Foreword

A Journey of a Thousand Miles Begins With a Single Step

—Chinese Proverb

Steps form a pattern, follow some kind of direction, even though sometimes they may be uncertain and uneasy, and the path rough and unfamiliar. But as we gain experience and confidence, our steps become sure, and we seek new paths of experience.

We seniors have come a long way, and look forward to the widening, shining highway which now stretches before our eager eyes. But as we go, we turn an affectionate eye backward along the way we have come, and remember the friendships made in our activities and sports and classes—all landmarks which we have recorded in this book. We invite you to follow along as we blaze the trail. . . .

Vocational's V-Tree

Administration and Faculty

"And gladly would he learn and gladly teach."
— The Canterbury Tales, Geoffrey Chaucer

One thing we often forget when we follow the trail our teachers blaze for us, is that they had to learn once, too, and must keep on learning. Perhaps we could learn from them something that is more significant than the acquisition of facts—and that is the joy to be found in learning. And from those who are glad to teach, we should be glad to learn.

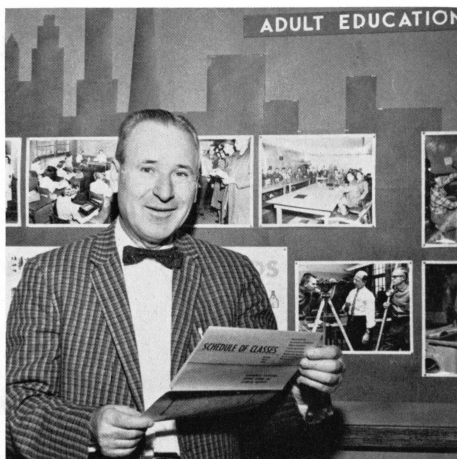

Education is a Pathway . . .

—Adult Living

Education cannot be regarded as completed with the preparation for vocations, whether at the close of the secondary-school period or at the completion of a professional course in a higher educational institution. Whether viewed from the standpoint of social need or of individual development, education is a process which continues through adult life. The development of a program of adult education is a matter of fundamental policy. The opportunities provided must be as varied as are the social and economic needs and the intellectual interests of the total adult population.

Educational Policies Commission

—GLEN D. JADWIN

MR. G. D. JADWIN, Assistant Principal, Vocational Evening School. Every year, the Evening School opens its considerable facilities to thousands of adults in the metropolitan Twin Cities.

—Technical Training

IT'S ALWAYS A NOTEWORTHY EVENT when a young child takes his first steps by himself. The fact that he falters and soon falls to the floor does not detract from the importance of this great event.

As he grows in stature and ability, he finds that he is ready for other steps, but since each may lead in a different direction, he is faced with the problem of deciding in which direction he is to travel. He realizes the need of advice and guidance in order to direct his activities toward a worthwhile goal.

All of us should be concerned about the next steps we are to take. We should calculate our shortcomings and abilities and measure the size of our steps on the basis of those calculations. It is often good judgment to pause momentarily as we stride through life, to give us an opportunity to seek help from others and set our goals accordingly. Let us always keep our goals clearly in mind so that we need not falter from the paths we have chosen to lead us through the future.

—Norman A. Jensen

It has been said that "The greatest happiness in the world is to make others happy; the next greatest is to make them think."

In this day as we face a rapidly changing and complex world, students need to do more and better planning for their future. Problems concerning government, economics, politics, religion, automation, and national defense make it necessary more than ever that each individual be able to think for himself. Only as he is able to do this will he become a useful and happy citizen.

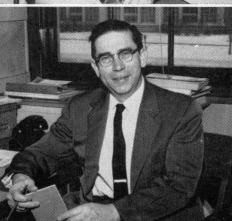

Remember you are today where your thoughts have brought you. You will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you. Whatever your present environment may be, you will fall, remain, or rise with your thoughts, your wisdom, and your ideals.

Graduates of today will determine through their solution of the problems they face what the world will be tomorrow.

—Wilfred L. McGimpsey

PRINCIPAL NORMAN A. JENSEN and ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL WILFRED L. MCGIMPSEY pause during an intermission at the Senior Banquet, Calhoun Beach Hotel.

New Paths

A well-known office on third floor where the sunshine streamed in on lovely plants and a redheaded lady seated at her desk, seemed strangely empty one day at the end of January. Mrs. Grace Kenyon, Co-ordinator for Cosmetology, Needle Arts, Sales and Receptionist Training, had resigned. Her loyalty to Vocational and her interest in its students were apparent in all her work, and we wish her well as she turns her steps in a new direction.

Miss Carol Hauger, who had been Training Director at both Donaldson's and Powers before coming to Vocational four years ago, succeeds Mrs. Kenyon.

Mrs. Grace Kenyon and Miss Carol Hauger

Miss Margaret Christenson, Nurse; Miss Dagny Dietrichson, Visiting Teacher.

WHILE IT IS TRUE that each one of us is responsible for the paths we choose in life, Coordinators can play a vital part in helping us set our sights, and reach our goals. Through testing, counseling, and frequent checking of our school programs, they keep us headed in the right direction. If we maintain an acceptable scholastic average, get along well with classmates and teachers, and demonstrate willingness and ability in our trades, we may be selected for the senior on-the-job-training program, or "Co-op", as it is popularly called. Coordinators work closely with employers as we take our first important step into the future.

Sometimes when our paths seem to become long or hard, the Nurse or the Visiting Teacher holds out a helping hand, and after a bit, most of us take up the trail again and follow where our teachers guide us along the path we chose.

They "gladly learn . . .

Kitchen Staff—

Wonderful aromas drifted through the basement every day as our skillful cooks busily prepared lunch for hungry students. Those in their last class before lunch, eagerly awaited the bell that would send them hurrying towards the lunchroom to eat a nourishing hot lunch.

Unlike the old saying, "Too many cooks spoil the broth," our staff turned out a wide variety of tasty meals throughout the year.

Time out for relaxation.

WE KNOW our faculty is photogenic, but out of all the pictures we received for our informal page of them at home or on vacation, only a few were sharp or recognizable enough to print. A few other clear prints will be found in other sections of this yearbook. Meanwhile, we hope another year will find our faculty friends less shy and better equipped with camera, film, and flashbulb.

Underclassmen

"The beginning is the most important part of the work."—Plato, The Republic

Getting started on the right foot—the army drill master knows the importance of that when he says, "Hup-two-three—"

Beginnings aren't always easy, and sometimes we rebel at falling into step; but learning the rhythm and walking together can make comrades of us all . . .

After the measured beat, the discipline, we come to a crossroad marked "Improvisations," and then we begin to individualize the music and the rhythm, and we grow toward the final goal of education—self-discipline.

SOPHOMORE STUDENT COUNCIL. Sophomores being "new blood" in our school, it is always an encouraging thing to find them playing a vital part in all our activities.

These students attended meetings under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Turkington and Mr. Joseph Budish. They discussed the various problems of the Sophomore Class, chose their class pins, and planned the spring dance.

Later in the year, the representatives elected the student council for their junior year.

THE SOPHOMORE TALENT SHOW WAS UNDER WAY. Students were settled, the lights dimmed, and the announcer stepped into the spotlight as Vocational's third annual Sophomore Talent Show began. Meanwhile as everything was going so smoothly, frantic expressions like, "Speak so they can hear you!" "Do I look all right?"—and "You're on!"—were exchanged backstage.

As the program progressed, many brave sophomores performed to our complete satisfaction. There were numbers such as "I Can't Say No!" sung by Delphine Olivera and humorous ditties such as "Seven Little Girls," as illustrated below.

The last treat was Rod Ashton's band playing "Raunchy."

ESCAPADE IN THE PARK was presented by Pat Samek, Astrid Skmech, Sandy Lund, Sandy Kankelfitz and Jerry Goldstein.

on a Winning Team? . . .

MRS. ELSIE KWAKERNAAT'S CLASS guides Sophomores toward an appreciation of one of the fine arts. Often these students hear, for the first time in their lives, symphony concerts at Northrop Auditorium, University of Minnesota. They acquire skills such as the understanding of classical music, note reading, and singing and also become acquainted with some of the great musicians and composers of early and modern times.

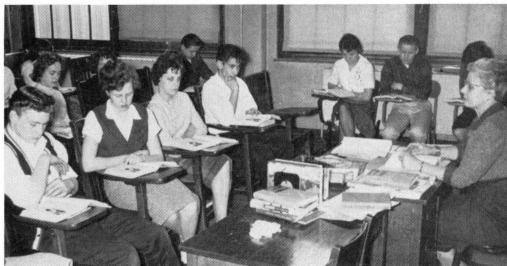

"A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY" was an ancient Greek ideal inherited by Western civilization, and the Sophomores are encouraged to prove it.

Our School Program

MANY UNINFORMED PEOPLE in the city think that students at Vocational receive only training in a trade. The fact is that we receive a thorough high school education, with a full program of academic classes and extra-curricular activities, plus training in a trade taught by fully experienced teachers.

Our experience here will equip us to find a good place in the economic life of our community. That this is true is evidenced by our enthusiastic and loyal alumni, many of whom return year after year to revisit classes and teachers.

This three-year program begins with the important Sophomore year. It is the first step in the new student's search for a happy and meaningful life.

IN MRS. DOROTHY DOSSE'S ENGLISH CLASS, students are taught the basic fundamentals of reading, writing, and of speaking before a group.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WORLD HISTORY as a background for understanding the world we live in, and our eventual place in it, is emphasized in Mr. Milo Sween's Social Studies Class.

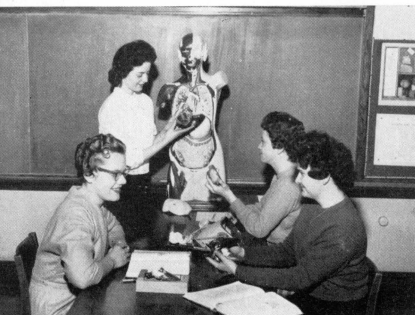

Wherever our road will lead us . . .

IN THE NURSING PROCEDURES CLASS, Joyce Hajney and Louise Olsen, Juniors, are making a tight foundation of a bed—a skill they will be needing when they work in the hospital during their junior year.

While the value of foods in maintaining and attaining good health is the important feature of their nutrition class, students also find the study of table arrangements, china, flatware and its care, of interest. Here Delphine Olivera and Marlene Thureson, Sophomores, are discussing their table arrangements.

Jo Anne Reimann, Michal Ann Johannes, Janice Wallin, and Kathy Kubinski, Seniors, are shown as they study the heart in their physiology class.

Pre-Nursing

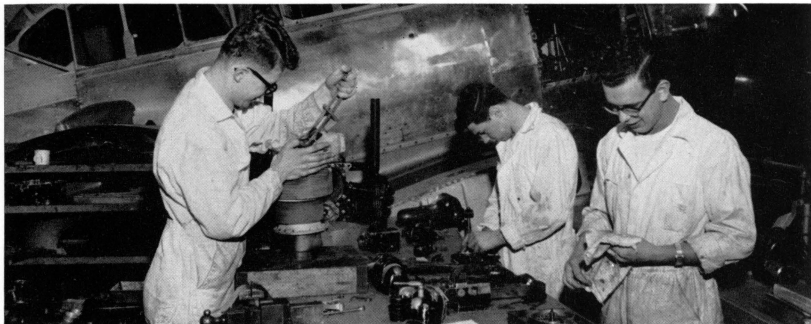

Nursing is a career which requires a liking for people as well as an interest and ability in sciences which are basic to nursing.

The purpose of the Pre-Nursing Course at Vocational is to acquaint the students with nursing in general and all of the fields of nursing; to give students a good high school background in a program basic to nursing—including one year each of biology, chemistry, and physics; to give students an opportunity to test their ability in simple nursing skills, as bedmaking and giving baths; to give students an opportunity to work with children in nursery schools and patients in hospitals.

The girls shown here are being graduated from Vocational's Practical Nursing Course. The Practical Nursing School, which gives our students a one-year course after their high school graduation, is located at Swedish Hospital, Minneapolis.

... we will be prepared.

GERALD OLSON AND PHILIP COLLINGS are shown here repairing the cylinder; Marbert Heintz is checking the oil system of an AT6.

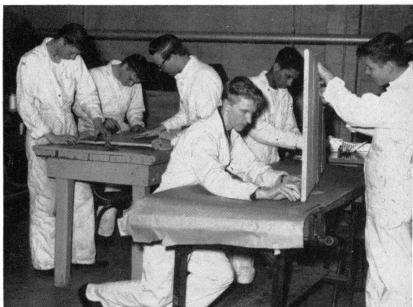

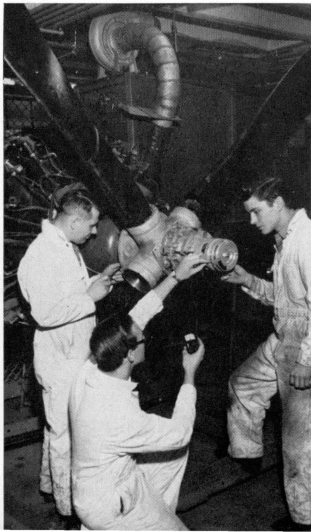

Aviation

Sophomores work on airframe structures such as the fuselage, wings, control surfaces, fabric covering and finishing. In the second semester, they concentrate on metals and metal structure repair. Riveting guns and sheet metal repairs complete the year.

Aircraft powerplants and their accessories become the main study and shop activity during the junior year. The seniors finish their study and shop practice on complete airplanes. Engine operation in the test room, and maintenance and repair on the airplane, prepare the students to work in the aircraft mechanics industry.

James Rolfe, Warren Huss, and James Renolds are installing a Curtiss Electric Propeller.

Richard Draper, David Hobot, Warren Huss, Robert Robins, Michael DeJesus, and Philip Polivka are doing re-covering work on the airplane control surfaces.

STUDENTS BELOW are checking the following: Philip Polivka, wheel installation; Michael DeJesus and Michael Obert, cables for controls; Richard Draper, oil in the engine; Robert Robins, gasoline in the wing tank. David Hobot is acting as pilot observer.

Valentine Party—February 5, 1960
Junior Prom—May 20, 1960

The path widens, and becomes a road—

GUIDANCE AND SUPERVISION for the junior class was provided by Miss Carol Hauger and Miss Patricia McDonald.

Junior Student Council Members work in co-operation with the Sophomore and Senior Council Members to improve our school and its activities in every way possible.

JUNIOR OFFICERS along with a representative from each homeroom plan the junior activities, such as the Hallowe'en Party, the Valentine Party, and the Junior Prom. They also decide on the style of class ring for their fellow students. In order to be eligible for this representation, each student must have a "B" or better average.

JUNIORS HAVE A GALA TIME. February 5 found the juniors having a wonderful evening at their annual Sweetheart Dance. Music was provided by members of the junior class who have formed a combo. The climax of the evening came when Judy Kirk, little sister of junior student Wilma Kirk, announced that Bob Gross and Mary Koolstra were the Sweetheart king and queen.

QUEEN MARY KOOLSTRA, King Bob Gross and candidates Karen Buchite and Bob Finlayson dance to the music of the junior combo.

TERRY JOLICOEUR at the piano, Jim Valles on the lead guitar, Rod Ashton on the drums, and Curtis Lachelt on the follow guitar provided the music for the dance. Terry and Curtis are students at South High School.

Some of our goals can be attained . . .

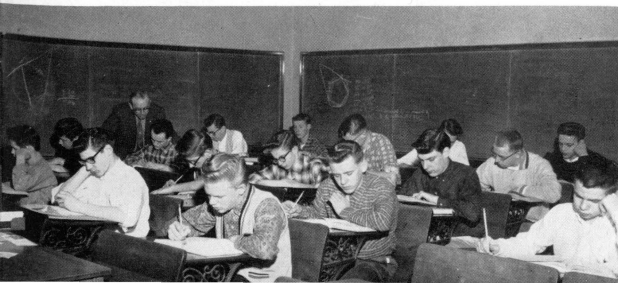

INSTRUCTION in physics is provided by Mr. Arthur Jackson.

ACADEMIC SUBJECTS are highly regarded in our school and usually compose half of the students' busy day. English is required for three years. In the third year, seniors have a choice of an equivalent, such as Craftsman (the school newspaper), Creative Writing, Tradewind (the yearbook), Radio Workshop, or General Communications and World Literature. Most of the trades require mathematics, higher mathematics, or science.

MISS PATRICIA McDONALD instructs her students in formal and everyday grammar.

RELATED MATHEMATICS and algebra are taught by Mr. Evan Jones.

NEEDLE ARTS as a career

A GIRL interested in Needle Arts can expect excellent placement and salaries in Minneapolis and many industrial cities throughout the country. She is trained to operate power sewing machines and special machines, such as the buttonholer, serger, zigzag and blind hemmer. A Needle Arts student is instructed in textiles in her sophomore year; dress design in her junior year; and pattern making, dress making, draperies and monogramming in her senior year. This student also has an opportunity to join the co-op program in her senior year if her grades are "C" or better.

INSTRUCTION ON THE POWER SEWING MACHINE is provided by Mrs. Marguerite Belton.

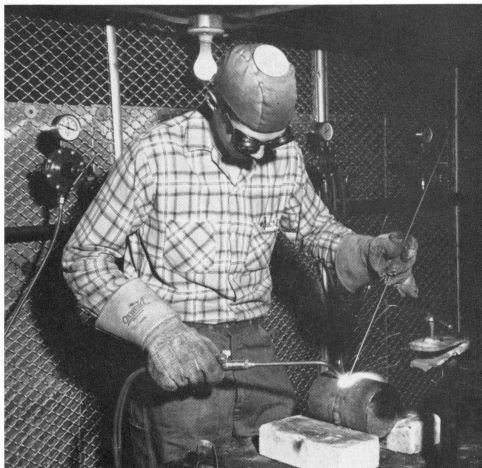

LAYING OUT PATTERNS and cutting garments by the sophomore Needle Art students are essential in sewing.

. . . to make a living.

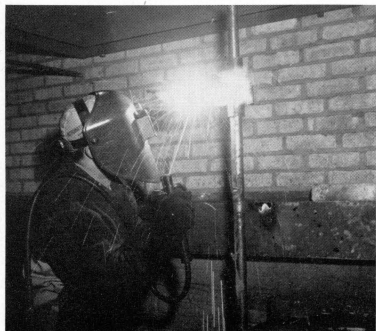

A STUDENT interested in a welding career is taught by Mr. Thomas Piper. The welding student will have three hours of welding in all three years, the first year in acetylene welding and the last two years in arc welding. He is instructed in mechanical drawing in the sophomore year, related mathematics in the junior year, and physics in the senior year. If his average is at least a "C," he may become eligible for on-the-job training.

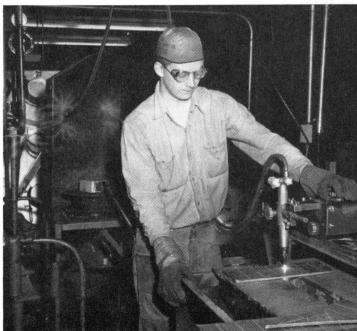

GAYLAND MICHAELSON, a sophomore, is welding a pipe flat.

JIM HATHAWAY, a senior, is arc welding overhead.

DALE MCKENZIE, a junior, is cutting metal with a cutting machine.

Organizations and Activities

I shall pass through this world but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do, let me do it now; let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

Many students who have experienced the pleasure of giving service to our school will no doubt continue to find happiness in serving the community, for such happiness is an inward light which makes one's own path bright: as these students gave, so did they receive.

Minnesota All-State Student Council

VOCATIONAL's halls were jammed with nearly 450 students and advisers as the Minnesota All-State Student Council Convention met here last fall.

Many long hours of preparation preceded this event. Pat Daire, who was secretary of the state council, sent invitations to all the schools. With the help of Mr. Arthur Lindman's classes, individual folders with pamphlets, pencils, and maps for each student and adviser were filled.

Housing these 450 students was the job of Ruth Rorvig. Students of all Minneapolis high schools entertained these out-of-town-ers.

Beverly Funk served as finance chairman. She endorsed all incoming checks, kept the books, and balanced the accounts daily with Mr. William Brown, the bookkeeper in the office.

Had it not been for the planning of Mr. Arthur Lindman, who supervised the whole program, the convention would not have been so successful.

The purpose of such a convention is to create a better understanding between students who discuss projects which have been successful in some schools and might also be in others.

Vocational Student Council

Busy was room 402 early Wednesday mornings as the Student Council, with the help of Mr. Arthur Lindman, met to plan, discuss, and review the school's activities and problems.

Some of the special projects of the Council brought real enthusiasm to the school. One day a girl could powder her nose in the shiny reflection of her boy friend's shoes. The Council caused the transformation of the shoes in the lunchroom for 10c. The all-school costume dance was exciting and a big success. The Holly-Hop put the school in the Christmas spirit.

We can thank the Student Council for these and also for the faculty varsity basketball game during the Red Cross Drive where the teachers proved they were not as old as the students thought they were even though the teachers came out on the short end of the score.

The Student Council is the voice of the student body. Their leadership influences the loyalty and enthusiasm of Vocationalites.

MINNESOTA COUNCIL FLAG—This flag was presented to the Minnesota Association of Student Councils by Vocational because the convention was held here this year. It was designed in blue, gold and white by Kathy Potvin, a senior in Commercial Art, and made by Mr. Edward Karbo's tailoring class.

Parents-Teachers-Students Association

ON THURSDAY EVENINGS throughout the year, many parents came back to school again. Why? Because real learning never stops, and on these nights, many parents met teachers and talked over their mutual interests in Vocational and in each other.

Students on the P.T.S.A. Committee planned the programs, which usually included some form of entertainment. The choir sometimes sang, and often previews of the plays were given. After the program, a light snack of coffee and doughnuts was served in the lunchroom. It was here that these conversations took place.

National Honor Society

One of the newer organizations here at Vocational is the National Honor Society, which was formed in 1956. Every spring, several Juniors and Seniors are the happiest students in the world when they find out they have been elected to membership.

Membership is based on scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Another requirement of Vocational's Honor Society is outstanding ability in a trade. A member must maintain at least a 2.0 or "B" average. If he falls below these standards, he will be dropped from the Society and must return his pin and membership card.

Tradewind Agents

In the past, the Tradewind staff itself did the collections, bookkeeping, distribution, and general sales for the year-book.

This year that job was taken over by Miss Alyce Gross and her first hour book-keeping class. This is a big job, and this class had much practical experience in the handling and accounting of thousands of dollars.

Tradewind

Each year the yearbook is published by the senior class and produced by a few of its members. This year the staff worked hard and it seemed that there never was enough time to do all that had to be done.

Even the hard work, under the guidance of Mrs. Byrne, seemed to be fun in the home-like atmosphere of 411. And even when our spirits were low, the cheery yellow curtains, many pictures, and a variety of plants cheered us up in no time.

With the usual number of questions asked, teachers bothered, endless searching, and much leg work, the book went to press and the staff sat back to breathe again.

... for our future years.

Craftsman Adviser

Understanding, gentle, intelligent, loving, kind, and Mother to all her students is a description given of Miss Mildred Fisk by her Craftsman staff. Each year she has come back to school in the fall with new ideas for a very green staff of seniors.

Besides putting out a paper which was a full-time job itself, Miss Fisk carried four English classes and found time for extra-curricular activities.

Miss Fisk has a green thumb. She has been heard saying, "When I retire, I am going to devote all my time and energy to my garden and home."

Staff

A busy girl comes flying out the door and is gone from sight in a flash. Another girl opens the door, goes in, and sits down with pencil and paper in hand, oblivious to the noisy surroundings. . . .

The Craftsman Staff had to meet deadlines every two weeks with enough news to fill the four pages of the paper. The editor-in-chief, Rod Ritter, had to get copy to the printer at least three days before the paper was issued. Their job was a big one, but mastering their many problems, they provided us with a very interesting paper throughout the year.

Our Students Tell Junior High Visitors What Our School Offers

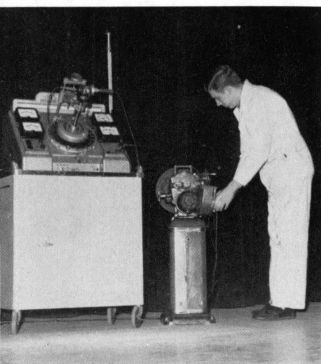

The lights were dimmed, the voices hushed, and Dennis Klein stepped up to the stage. Seated below were Junior High students here to learn about Voc—and learn they did as skits were presented that highlighted all the trades.

To the interest of the boys, motors were demonstrated, electric gadgets operated, and a brief summary of courses was given by a student in each trade. A smartly staged fashion show, a humorous skit showing the right and wrong ways to apply for a job, and a variety of hair styles were among those shown and received with enthusiasm by the Junior High girls.

Next on the agenda was a guided tour through the shops. Up the stairs here, down the hall and into this room, and then back down the stairs again may have confused our visitors, but their advisers and our Service Club Guides managed to bring them all back to the auditorium without a single loss!

MAYNARD WESTPHAL, BARBARA SCHMIDT—Hotel and Restaurant Training. "What's cooking?"

Red Cross

FILLING RED CROSS boxes each year for children in other countries is a task taken on with much enthusiasm here at Vocational. This year Mr. Booth's and Mrs. Rice's home rooms topped all rivals by filling the greatest number of boxes.

The school store played an important part in this activity by selling a variety of school supplies plus articles made by students in different trades.

During the Wednesday morning broadcasts, letters from children in other countries who received Red Cross Boxes were read, and from their simple words of thanks, we realized how much happiness comes out of one Red Cross Box that we helped to fill.

FINAL CHECKING of the Red Cross Boxes was made by Ernest Swinson, Arlowa Clough, Martin Noble, Joyce Morris, Trellis Patterson.

KENT NESS and Kay Howell are checking the money from their home room with the head banker, Horst Birken.

School Banking

"A PENNY SAVED is a penny earned." Ben Franklin's advice is carried out through our Vocational banking program where every home room elects a banking agent.

Miss Alyce Gross originally advised this activity which early in the year was taken over by Mrs. Lucille Willen, as Miss Gross' first hour bookkeeping class had received the new responsibility of handling collection and doing the bookkeeping for sophomore and junior Tradewind subscribers.

For those thrifty students who bank each week, a thrift luncheon was given at the Pick-Nicollet Hotel.

Service Club

HAVE YOU EVER wondered why those busy girls wearing the "guide" buttons fly through the halls on Junior High Visiting days? They are the hard-working members of Vocational's Service Club, and guiding ninth graders through our interesting shops is only one of their duties. They also hand out programs at school plays, usher at PTSA meetings, and help bewildered sophomores through our seemingly endless corridors on their first day with us each year.

The club had a membership of about 35, all working together under the guidance of Mr. A. J. Oster, adviser.

THE SERVICE CLUB was busy guiding during the 1959 Open House.

RENAE TURNQUIST is fulfilling one of her jobs as a Service Club member. She is shown here taking tickets from a couple attending one of our programs.

"Cue two!" "Roger, put the green batten on!" "Jim, light bridge all ready?" "Wait a minute! Something's wrong with the turntable! Okay! All set now . . ." "House lights down . . . music soft . . . curtain up! . . ." "Good afternoon, students and faculty of Vocational High School. . ."

This is backstage talk, which the audience isn't supposed to hear. Occasionally during a dead silence in a program you might hear a loud thud. It's probably only one of the stage crew falling over a cord.

This essential, but seldom seen group of people is our stage crew. They used imagination coupled with practical foresight in creating the stage scenery for our many school productions. Mr. Stanley Frostad was their adviser.

The Thespians at Work

THE THESPIAN SOCIETY is composed of students active in dramatics. Membership requires active participation either behind the scenes making sets, operating lights and sound equipment, and repairing broken sets and props; or participation in programs and plays.

A person who wants to become a member should first let the troupe's adviser, Mr. Robert Turner, or one of the officers know that he desires to become a member of the group.

Members take part in many activities and programs (such as the pre-holiday season presentation of Charles Dickens' Scrooge, as shown on this page), and in this way make many new friends.

"One Little Indian Maid"

ANNIE GET YOUR GUN, a musical comedy, was one of the most colorful productions staged by the drama department last spring. "Annie," vivacious Diane Mayer, and Wild Bill Hickock, handsome Mike Puchalla, were leading characters in this fine play, which was directed by Mr. Larry Whiteley.

We give thanks

THE DAY BEFORE Thanksgiving the drama department provided the student body with a meaningful program. Mr. Robert Turner's fourth hour drama class wrote a short play to demonstrate the true meaning of Thanksgiving.

"The Bat" on Stage

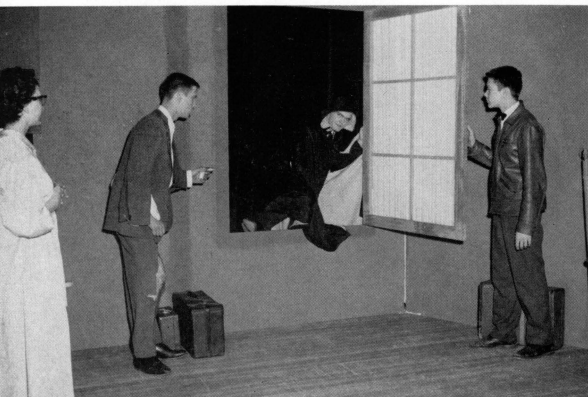

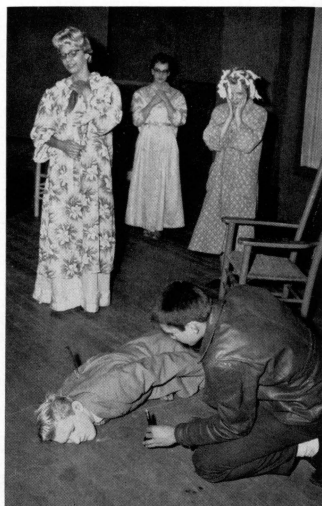

"THE BAT", a mystery thriller, was successfully produced on November 5 and 6 in the Elizabeth Fish Memorial Auditorium.

As the lights dimmed, a huge bat floated slowly across the stage, the curtains were drawn back, and the play began. As the plot unrolled and the different players appeared, the words, "He did it," or "I think he was the one," were whispered throughout the auditorium.

When the final act drew to a close, the "Bat" was unmasked; and much to the satisfaction of some and the surprise of others, the villain was the detective, portrayed by Dennis Klein.

As susceptible persons stepped into the dark night after the play, they gazed anxiously into the star-filled sky and listened for the fluttering of a bat's wings.

Mrs. McThing

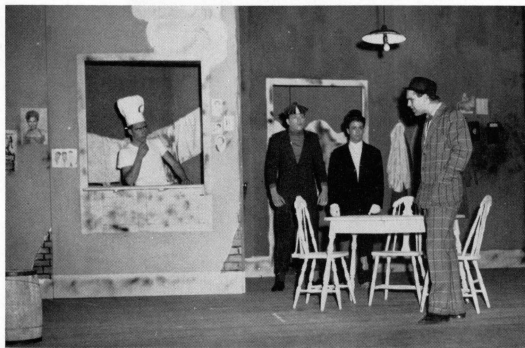

"... a whimsical, lovely, and lovable work for young children and old children" wrote John Chapman of the N.Y. News of the play Mrs. McThing when it opened on Broadway in 1952.

Produced in the Elizabeth Fish Memorial Auditorium on the night of March 17 and 18, Mrs. McThing drew a record crowd and was a smash hit. The shantyland characters were hilarious and the little girl and boy drew a good number of laughs.

The play provided a laugh-filled and enjoyable evening.

Vocational Choir

Music echoing down the fourth floor hall early every morning came from Room 405, where Mrs. Elsie Kwakernaat and the choir worked hard to produce harmony. They spent many long hours rehearsing for their programs.

The Christmas season was made brighter by their carols the last week before vacation. An inspirational touch was added to many programs by their special numbers. For the past few years, they have also sung at functions outside of school. This year, five members participated in the all-city choir and thirty others sang at a music festival at North High School.

At the end of three years the senior choir members are awarded a pin; if their contributions to the choir have been outstanding, each receives a pin and letter.

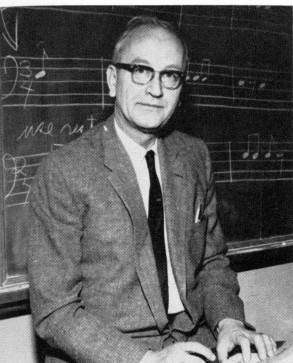

ALTHOUGH she is very busy directing the choir and teaching music besides, Mrs. Kwakernaat still finds time to enjoy symphonies and attend University classes.

DURING Christmas week, the many carols sung by the choir filled the school with seasonal spirit.

MR. HENRY ARENT, Vocational's Man of Notes.

Vocational Band

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Mr. Henry Arent, the band played a vital part in school programs. Many times when the student body entered the auditorium, they were greeted by the peppy selections of the band. Very steady and reliable people have formed the backbone of our band; they usually learned to budget their time so that any time lost in class could be made up; band members, too, sound the trumpets and beat the drums, never for their own glory, but always for someone's else's grand entry; besides, they are seated below the stage, while the spotlights play over their heads.

This year their peppy music, new tunes, and free-swinging musical cheer which was introduced at one of the pep fests added much enjoyment to their performances. Mr. Henry Arent is the capable and personable director.

Flags and Pom Pons

"STEP HIGHER and point your toes." ... "Swing from the hips! Here, let me show you!" ... "I think I've got it now. How'm I doing?"

Questions and commands like these were heard after school early last fall in the back of the lunchroom as about 50 hopeful girls practiced pom pon twirling and marching. After a few nights of vigorous practice, they realized that there was a lot of hard work that went with the prestige and glamour of being a flag or pom pon twirler. About three weeks later, it paid off for the lucky ones as eight regulars and two alternates were chosen to wear the purple and gold of Vocational.

THE PERT FLAG TWIRLERS in their white sweaters and short purple skirts represent the next step after pom pon twirling. They have the more difficult task of twirling the flags in unison; and when it's windy, this can become quite a chore.

Among the events brightened by these energetic girls are Homecoming coronation and game, basketball preview, and Vocational's sports award program.

Camera Club

ONCE A WEEK these "shutterbugs" met in Room 300 to explore the adventurous world of photography. Under the direction of Mr. John Oster, adviser, they learned to develop film, take effective pictures and print them.

The training and knowledge of cameras acquired in the club prepares a student for work on the Tradewind or Craftsman in his senior year. This training can also be used to become better acquainted with photography as a hobby.

"Go EXPLORING In Books" was the slogan for book week this year, and many students did just that. Before and after school, students came in to take a closer look at the books they liked. The decorative and interesting art displays were made by Mr. Gale Greenwood's eleventh grade art class.

Sports

*Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,
But in ourselves, are triumph and defeat.*

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, The Poets

An athletic field is a place for courage, tenacity, and strength. It is a place where a boy learns a few fundamental lessons of life: that success usually comes only when we have worked hard and selflessly; that when even our best efforts fail, we must accept defeat gracefully, but with determination to do better next time—if we are granted a “next time”. Thus, any game can be a triumph, and any boy a man.

THIS FOOTBALL SEASON was referred to as "a long cold fall" by Coach Gerald Cady.

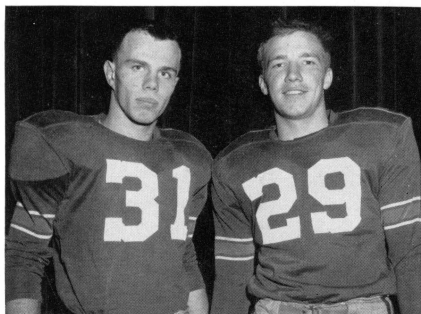

Co-captains Doug Hanson and Jim Skavnak led the team through the Conference with a 1-win, 6-loss record. Although the official standings were 1-6, Vocational's win was through forfeit; South had an ineligible player on their squad during the Vocational-South game.

The Volts were scheduled to fly to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, for a non-conference game against Washington High School. A thrill-packed trip, plus a welcome-home dinner were planned. Unfortunately, because of bad weather the game was canceled, but the event was not a total loss for the planned return-home dinner went on according to schedule.

Sophomore Football

FIFTY SOPHOMORES turned out for football, winning 1 and losing 3.

According to Coach Vern Fiedler, the Marshall game was the most memorable because Vocational won. "Edison's game is one we would like to forget because we lost this game in the last 15 seconds of play," he said.

According to Mr. Fiedler, seven or eight of the boys should be good prospects for the varsity squad next year.

The sophomore football team had good potential, and with a few more breaks should have won a few more.

CONSENSUS OF OPINION before the season started was that Vocational would finish the conference on the bottom. Through hustle and fight the Volts played hard in every game up to the last whistle to finish fourth in the city. Although outweighed and considerably shorter in most games, the Volts were never outfought even though they were outscored in some games.

Bruce Borchert, Bob Gross, Walter Harris, and Paul Natysin placed high with honorable mention for All-City.

Bruce Borchert and Walter Harris were chosen by a committee of coaches for the All-District 17 Tournament team.

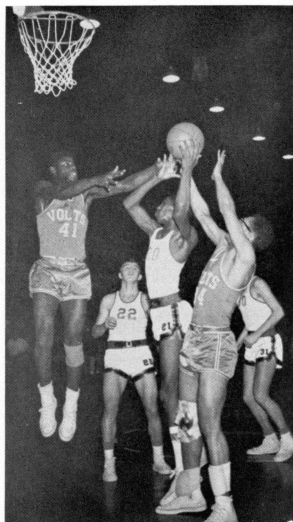

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM—Bob Gross, Paul Natysin, Vern Nelsen, Bruce Scharmer, Sam Brown, Gordon Schewe, John Alexander, Bruce Borchert, Walter Harris, Marvin Lang, Skip Quick, Dwaine Greenwalt, Robert Sjoquist, Stan Iskerka, Victor Vitullo.

THE SOPHOMORES ended the season with 11 losses, but "Against West and Henry they displayed plenty of fight and hustle. They're a good squad and showed up at every practice with plenty of enthusiasm," were the comments of Coach Vernon Fiedler.

Vocational vs. West

VOCATIONAL won its third straight victory by defeating West.

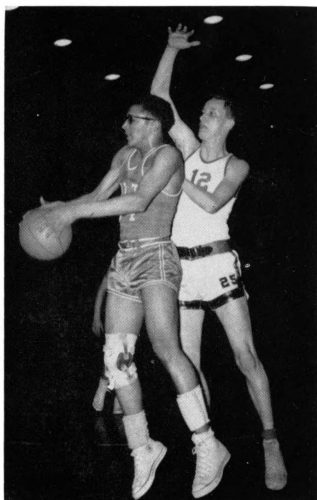

Vocational had trouble getting started, scoring only 4 points in the first period. The Volts didn't go ahead until Sam Brown's short shot gave them an 18-16 lead in the second period.

Center Bruce Borchert, who finished with 21 points, scored 11 of them in the second quarter as Vocational came back from a 12-4 deficit to take a 20-19 halftime lead.

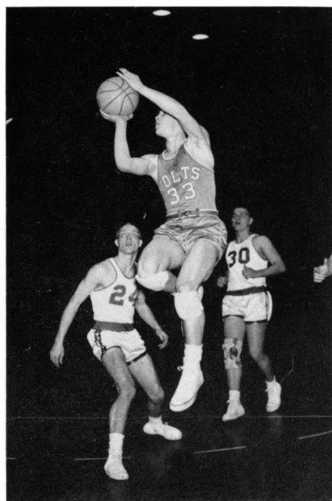

The final score was Vocational 44, West 32.

Hockey

THE HOCKEY TEAM this year won 1, lost 9, and tied 1. Unfortunately, the Vocational victory over Central had to be forfeited since Voc. had an ineligible player in the game.

Jim Johnson was captain of this year's squad and he will be succeeded by Gay Novack, who was voted

Most Valuable Hockey Player by the squad this year, and also was on the All-City Honorable Mention Hockey Team.

The new hockey coach this year was Mr. James Salwaser. Mr. Salwaser teaches school at Phillips Junior High.

Cross-Country Boys—

VOCATIONAL won one meet, defeating Henry. The team did, however, make a creditable showing in every meet. No team really "ran away" with Vocational, says Coach Milo Sween. The squad consisted of 17 boys of whom the outstanding players were Donald Bielinski, Tom Hendricks, Larry Forehand, Charles Busall, Richard Anderson.

All-City Boys—

BRUCE BORCHERT, Bob Gross, Walter Harris, and Paul Natysin received Honorable Mentions on the All-City Team to place more players from Voc. than from any other city high school.

Coaches whose teams were eliminated in the Sub-district play-offs chose Bruce Borchert and Walter Harris for the All-District 17 Team.

Mr. Milo Sween, Mr. Gerald Cady, Mr. Thomas Withrow, Mr. Cappy Jones - Coaches with long service record.

80 Years Combined Service—

MR. MILO SWEEN has coached the football team and cross country teams. Mr. Gerald Cady has coached the football team, wrestling team, and the track team. Mr. Thomas Withrow has coached the basketball team and football team. Mr. Cappy Jones has coached the football team.

Their combined service to Vocational High School's athletic program racks up a hefty 80 years among them. This interesting fact was revealed at the Athletic Awards program.

MR. CAPPY JONES and Mr. Milt Bruhn. Mr. Bruhn recalled old times with Cappy Jones, who had been his math teacher and coach at Mound High School.

Advice to Teenagers

MILT BRUHN, University of Wisconsin football coach, was guest speaker at the Vocational Athletic Awards day program.

"A person's academic ability is of utmost importance, but you need muscles to carry the brains. Everyone should take part in a competitive sport of some kind, and spend more time on the athletic field than in cars," were some of Mr. Bruhn's comments.

Mr. Bruhn majored in agriculture at the University of Minnesota where he was one of the best in baseball. He liked football but lacked confidence, but went out as a sophomore, liked it, was good, and became one of the finest football coaches in the country.

"Most Valuable" Players . . .

Basketball—

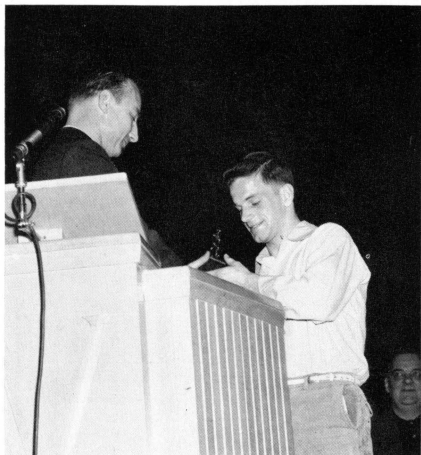

CO-CAPTAIN BRUCE BORCHERT of the Vocational Basketball team received a certificate award for player of the week at a dinner sponsored by the Star and Tribune at Jax's Cafe.

Players received their awards from John Kundla. Special guests attending the banquet were George Mikan and Jim Pollard.

Bruce was chosen by the Sports Writers of the Star and Tribune staff because he scored 30 points, including all 12 of his team's points in the final quarter of play, even though Vocational lost 56-52 to Roosevelt.

MR. JENSEN, Bruce Borchert. Borchert "brings home the bacon."

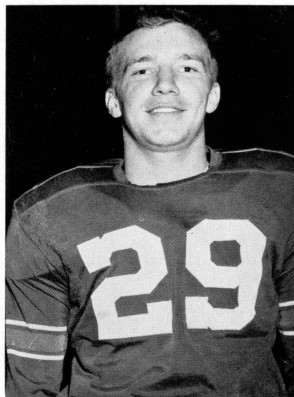

MR. JAMES SALWASER, Gay Novack. Next year's hockey captain receives trophy as Mr. Withrow, in corner, also looks happy.

Hockey—

GAY NOVACK, a Junior, was voted by his teammates as most valuable player. Gay also received honorable mention on the All-City hockey team.

Presentation of the trophy took place during the awards program on March 11, by hockey coach James Salwaser. Gay has also been elected captain of next year's hockey team.

JIM SKAVNAK, most valuable Vocational football player.

Football—

JIM SKAVNAK, a SENIOR, was voted most valuable player of the Vocational squad. At the end of every season the Minneapolis Star, and the head football coach conduct a "Most Valuable Player" election.

The Player elected and his coach are honored at a luncheon at the Nicollet Hotel. Mr. Cady stated, "If we had 10 more like Skavnak, we'd be all right."

EARLY PRACTICE

With the thawing of the snow and warm weather the Vocational boys start hunting up their baseball gloves, track shoes, or golf clubs for spring training. The practices begin in the school gym and then, when the weather permits, outside practice starts.

TRACK

On your marks! Get set! Bang! The track team shoots off. The track team coached by Mr. Gerald Cady started the season on March 31, at the Indoor Track Meet held at the University of Minnesota.

BASEBALL

Crack—"It's another hit!" That is a familiar yell on the baseball diamond, and for the Volts the yelling starts with the baseball opener on April 21 at Bryn Mawr Field. Mr. Vernon Fiedler coaches the Varsity baseball squad, while Mr. John Voss coaches the Sophomore baseball squad.

GOLF

"Fore!" echoes from the golf team, which is coached by Mr. Joseph Budish. The golf team consists of 10 boys, who do their practicing at Columbia Park.

School Life

It's a long lane that knows no turning.

— Robert Browning

State highway police say the road that is long and straight and level is most dangerous, because its monotony lulls the driver to sleep; the nursery rhyme says "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy". Likewise, the student who comes to school, sits his appointed time in classes, and then goes home again, is on a very "long lane." But the student who gets into the fun, who refuses to be a wall flower because he is too busy participating, is the one to whom "School Life" is just that. He is happy because he made an effort to be happy.

Homecoming

The excitement and bedlam of Homecoming hit Vocational with full force during the week of October 9. The school was a mass of purple and gold as beanies bobbed up and down the halls between classes. Pom pons were bought right and left from the school store.

Our boastful slogan, "Drop Those Dudes," was proudly displayed throughout Vocational in the halls and classrooms.

That afternoon, the auditorium stage was set for one of the biggest events of the year—coronation of king and queen. We found our seats while the band added to our suspense with its pounding rhythms—and then, after everyone was settled, the grand entry began! The pom pon twirlers, flag twirlers, cheerleaders, sophomore and junior attendants, and of course the king and queen candidates marched down the aisle to the royal court. Much of the success of Homecoming was due to the hard work of Mr. Booth, a faculty and chairman member of Homecoming.

A thrill added to our coronation was the presence of the Minneapolis Aquatennial Queen Gail Nygaard, and her escort Commodore Bruce Joy, who crowned our royalty.

When the big moment arrived, Miss Nygaard received the scroll and began to pace back and forth in front of the king candidates. The tense silence was broken when she stopped in front of Jerry Schwartzrock. Another wave of excitement began when Commodore Joy moved toward our beautiful queen candidates. The wave broke when he stopped in front of Ardelle Bredenberg, Homecoming queen for 1959 and '60.

Enjoying the dance

After the Coronation—

"Drop Those Dudes" was the boastful slogan proudly displayed on Homecoming buttons, cars, and dance decorations this year. The sun peeked in and out behind the clouds. It was a cold, crisp day as the gallant Volts began their fight. Although the Dudes weren't quite dropped, they found it difficult to break the VOLTS' tough defensive line.

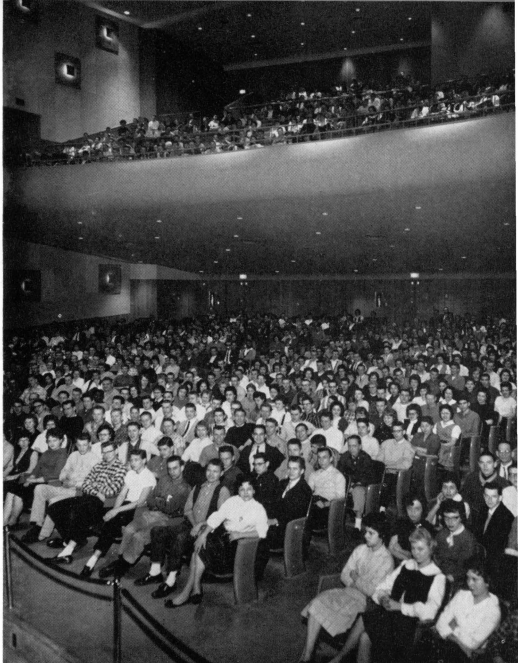

As the one-sided score mounted to 26 for West and remained at a blank zero for the Volts, we kept our yells loud and our spirits high. The festival spirit continued undampened at the Homecoming Dance that evening, which was attended by many alumni.

Fridays—

WHEN THE 8:30 BELL RINGS, we look forward to an hour of enjoyment in our beautiful auditorium. This year we had many fine programs presented by people from all over the world. Some of our programs included "Deep Sea Adventure" with Captain Dry, a Civil Defense program, the Augsburg College Band, and the Roosevelt High School Orchestra.

The soft seats and the quiet colors provided a very pleasant atmosphere for these programs, and the latest in stage lighting and sound seemed to make our school productions almost professional.

Holly Hop

DURING THE HOLIDAY, mistletoe and holly were everywhere and parties kept everyone busy. Not to be outdone by the Craftsman staff in their Christmas decorating contest, the Student Council sponsored a Holly Hop, complete with Santa himself.

Melvin Anderson, master of ceremonies, greeted everyone in true holiday spirit. In a laugh-filled treasure hunt, shouting, giggling girls searched frantically to find miniature Santa Clauses pasted under the pants legs and on knobby knees of the apparently bashful boys. Following that was a baby bottle contest which some boys completed in record time.

Another big feature was the contest to see who came with the best decorated socks. Because of the unusual assortment, judges had difficulty choosing the winner. After much consideration the judges awarded first prizes to Sandra Kalkbrenner and Garland Olson.

Homeroom Parties—

THIS YEAR, the holiday spirit seemed especially bright, probably because it got an early start sparked by the Craftsman staff's decorating contest for homerooms.

Fourth floor walked away with three tie-winners for third prize: Miss Robertson's room with a North Pole theme, Mrs. Byrne's with a giant Christmas package motif, and Mrs. Amerman's with original art work. Mr. Frostad's stage crew walked off with second prize, and Mr. Frostad was left holding the bag, naturally enough, for he was jolly old St. Nick himself. Mrs. Rice's room, 308, sported Santa's Workshop, with real elves busily carting off the first prize they won after judges Mr. Kenneth Thompson, Myrna Hazelhorst, and Rod Ritter had finally made their decision.

Most homerooms had Christmas parties; some invited other groups. When the fun was over what remained? The aroma of pine, the glint of snow sprayed on windows, and wreaths, tinsel, crumpled gift-wrapping paper, ribbons, and coke bottles.

RUSHING to meet the contest deadline were Mrs. Amerman and her decoration committee.

Costume Party

Eight o'clock—I arrived on time. The school was quiet and dark. I went through a door and my feet echoed down a flight of steps and a long hall. There were no sounds, no light—I was ready to turn back. But wait! There at the far end of the hall was a light! Silently I made my way towards its dimness until I came upon a big room filled with music and strange sights. Over in a corner were two little girls in pig tails and freckles looking at me. I was afraid to move. An awkward looking donkey stood talking to an enormous rabbit with a big grin, and a girl wearing a short skirt and long black stockings was winking at a bearded beatnik.

I was staring with amazement at this sight when all of a sudden I felt something cold and hard in the middle of my back.

"Stick 'em up!" said a deep voice; I turned around. I saw two rough looking gents with big hats, holsters, and a black patch of hair under their noses. I began to shake uncontrollably, and my teeth chattered in time with the rhythmic music. I was a nervous wreck!

I could not stand this any longer and I turned quietly and began to leave. Before I reached the door by which I entered, I saw a large sign saying, "COME TO THE COSTUME DANCE—DRESS FUNNY—COME ONE, COME ALL."

At last, high in the dark sky with only the stars to surround me and my space ship, I shudder to think of my experiences. They warned me, the other Martians, but I had to see for myself. Yes, a Costume Dance at Vocational is a sight to remember!

Seniors

*Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road,
Healthy, free, the world before me,
The long brown path before me leading Wherever I choose.*

—Walt Whitman, Song of the Open Road

"Travel light!" advise the airline agents, and we agree, but some of us find ourselves loaded with useless luggage, anyway. Planning ahead would have saved this inconvenience.

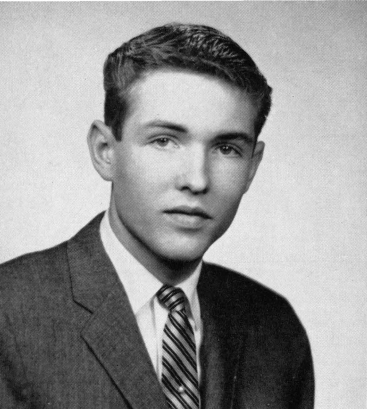

What is useless luggage?—brooding over past mistakes and failures is like taking a raccoon coat to Hawaii; but learning from those early errors can be like a nice orlon suit, which is acceptable in such a climate.

Today we fly the sky lanes, and Whitman's "long brown path" is higher up; but sky lanes, too, can lead wherever we choose.

Officers set pace for class

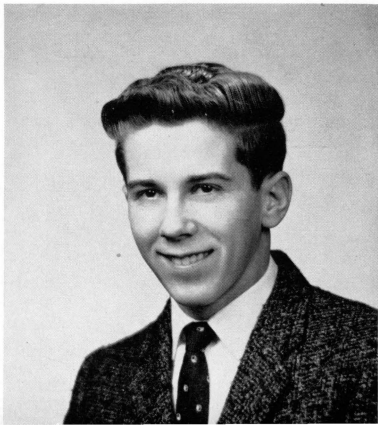

Senior Officers

PROBABLY THE BUSIEST PEOPLE in the senior class this year have been the hard-working class officers. Richard Mochinski, president, was constantly wondering which of several meetings he should attend. Lorraine Pearson, vice-president, was always on hand to preside over meetings in the president's absence. She also headed the Social Committee. Diane Gurry, secretary, took accurate and complete notes at all business meetings. Ruben Mytty, treasurer, had the task of rounding up all the seniors to pay their dues.

Leaders make path through eventful year

Senior Committees

Early in the year an election was held in each senior home room to select members for the four standing committees of the 1960 Senior Class.

These committees, who represent the seniors, perform the most important functions of the year.

BUDGET COMMITTEE

The Budget Committee, together with Mrs. Sara Jane Lemke, had the difficult task of planning the budget so that the seniors could enjoy many activities during the year.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

This committee, now known as the Senior Board, planned the many exciting times that were enjoyed by the seniors.

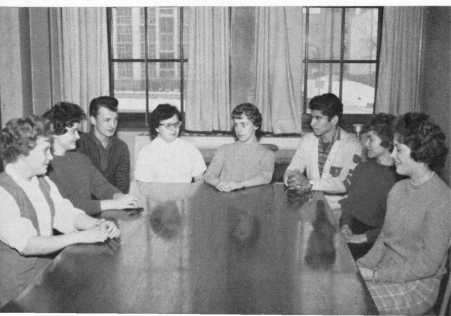

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

When the election of class officers drew near, these students studied the list of seniors carefully and chose those students who they felt would make the most efficient candidates. The Committee then submitted the names to each senior home room.

ANNOUNCEMENT COMMITTEE

Selection of commencement announcements was the short, but equally important job of the Announcement Committee.

Advisers keep Seniors on the Straight and Narrow

Senior Advisers

In home room these advisers were something more than teachers. They reminded seniors to get their work in on time, criticized when they needed it, and praised when it was deserved. Yet as Senior advisers they helped and gave just that little extra push which we needed to stay on the right track. They also worked during the year to make this last year in school a more enjoyable one by encouraging their advisees to take part in extra-curricular activities. They urged seniors to participate in sports, to be in school plays, and to take part in as many activities as possible.

MRS. SARA JANE LEMKE, chairman of the senior advisers, had many hard times trying to get the senior committees together to plan for future parties. Mrs. Lemke has said, "I truly enjoy my job as chairman because it keeps me young and up to date with the seniors. Sometimes it is quite nerve-wracking."

Enlightenment for the Future

Academic Classes

MODERN PROBLEMS is a required subject for all seniors. This class prepares students to go out into the world by enlightening them in the structure of government, the numerous problems that must be solved, and the economic and social problems they as future citizens must face.

CHEMISTRY. Thanks to Sputnik, many people are now becoming more interested in science. To satisfy these interests, two courses of study are offered in chemistry. A college preparation course and a course in general chemistry are given. Whether he is going to college or not would determine a student's choice.

Although Vocational is known mainly as a trade school, academic classes are just as important to our students as they are to those students of any other public high school. Every trade requires academic study as well as skill in trade.

Scope is wide . . .

Craftsman

English

The English equivalents cover a field large enough so that almost every senior can choose the class he prefers. Three of the English equivalents offered are for students who like to write. They are Craftsman, the school newspaper, good for any student who has a nose for news; Tradewind, for those who always seem to be there when something happens; Creative Writing, for those who use their imagination to make a little incident into a vivid original story or poem. The other equivalent, Radio Workshop, is for those who like to talk. Here students have the opportunity to be in plays and school programs, where they can acquire poise before an audience. Students who are not interested in the special English equivalents will automatically get basic communications and world literature, as shown on page 111.

BOOKKEEPING. Students have one year of bookkeeping. Through the year students learn the fundamentals of keeping books and records for different businesses. This year, included in their training, Miss Alyce Gross' first hour class took care of all the financial transactions of the TRADEWIND. Here Miss Gross instructs her class.

General Business

BUSINESS COURSES at Vocational cover a wide range of interests. Some of the trades offered in the business department are Comptometry, Stenography, General Business. In these trades, subjects given are office training, book-keeping, business machines, shorthand, and multilith.

BUSINESS MACHINES is probably the most well-liked class in school for business students. Here Mr. Carl Nelson teaches his students the importance of operating a machine correctly and accurately.

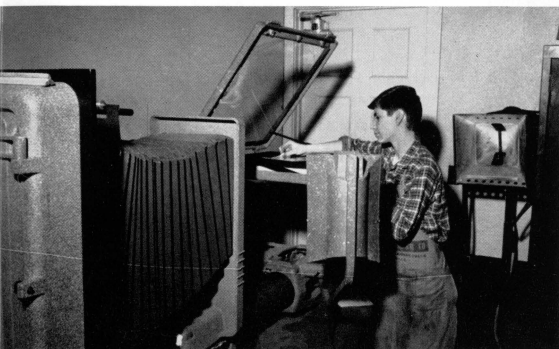

TRADE RELATIONS. A required class for senior co-op students is Trade Relations. Taught by the co-ordinator, students learn about business procedures, the wants and needs of their future employers, and correct conduct while on the job. Pictured is Mrs. Irene Dwyer's second hour class.

Roll the Presses!

First-Year Printing

Mr. Baker instructs sophomores in basic skills of lockup and hand composition. This is a one-semester class. Bookbinding is taught the second semester.

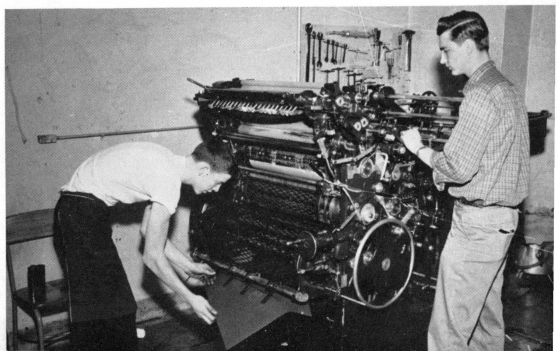

Second-Year Printing

Jeff Borneman swings a copy board into position on Robertson camera in preparation for photographing. This is just one step in copy preparation that a junior in offset lithography learns.

Third-Year Printing

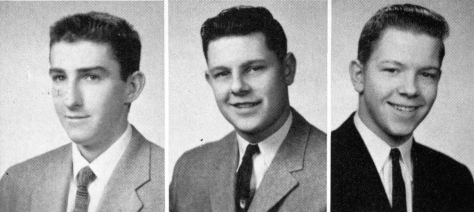

Fred Rohe, senior, operates Harris 17 1/2 x 22 1/2 offset while Marv Lang, junior, removes a printed sheet from the delivery table. This is just one of several presses in the offset shop.

Printing

The scope is wide in the printing industry. When a student graduates, he has acquired the basic skills of the different phases of printing. From these basic skills he can specialize in the field that interests him most, or in the operation that he does best. Printing is a constantly expanding industry, needing more and more skilled manpower, so placement and promotion are not uncommon to the Vocational printing graduate.

... one enchanted evening

Oops! There goes my salad! Gee, what should I do with this?

"One step, two step," were the words mumbled by many boys.

We Could Have Danced All Night . . .

The boys are Bill Sellberg, Cliff Johnson, Glenn Martineau, Allan Ranney, Dan Ojeda, Gerald Bartsow, Dwayne Ward.

Senior Banquet

TOP BRASS. Enjoying the meal are Ruben Mytty, Lorraine Pearson, Mr. McGimpsey, Mrs. Jensen, Richard Mochinski, Mr. Jensen, Mrs. McGimpsey, Diane Gurry.

SENIOR BANQUET. Before we quite realized it, the long-awaited Senior Banquet was at hand. The week before the banquet found many senior girls busy looking, trying on, and at last buying "that special dress."

On the night of February 11, the ballroom at the Calhoun Beach Hotel was alive with color, excitement, and Vocational seniors dressed for the big occasion.

Before we entered the ballroom, there was a scramble for numbered hearts—red for boys, white for girls—as couples, foursomes, and friends tried to get the hearts which would place them at the same table. When everyone was happily seated, there were four pretty girls and four handsome boys at each table.

"Seniors, advisers, and visitors, lend me your ears," says Dick Mochinski, Class President. Seated are Mr. McGimpsey, Mrs. and Mr. Jensen.

Away we go!

Think we'll make it?

Senior Sno-Day

SNO-DAY The air was brisk and the sun bright as we loaded the buses which were to take us to the Columbia Chalet for the annual Senior Sno-Day. For the first time in many years, a fresh blanket of snow beautified the hills of the park.

Upon arrival at the Chalet, we headed for the steep, slippery slopes and down we went—on cardboards, saucers, toboggans, and as a last resort, our bottoms! Some brave boys even managed to slide all the way down the hills on their big (?) feet. A treasure hunt, tug-o-war, and games kept us busy every minute. Amidst it all, the frantic screams of girls could be heard as they had their faces washed in cold, wet snow.

Inside the Chalet there was much suspense as the time drew near for the crowning of the Sno-King and Queen. DeEtte Peterson and Delman Pouliot reigned over the activities the rest of the afternoon. There were games, dancing, and many other surprises to bring to a close a perfect Sno-Day.

SNO DAY ROYALTY: King Delman and Queen DeEtte.

Who'll be first?

A long way down.

Something's Gotta Give! Gary Flanders and Mike Bakke lend moral, if not muscular, support.

Sponsored by the Minneapolis Honeywell Legion Auxiliary, a Junior girl is selected on the basis of moral character, leadership, courage, honesty, and interest in government, to receive citizenship training for a week of "living" government in groups patterned after state and national governing bodies.

Rae Marie Walz
Jr., Comm. Art

Minnesota Boys' State

Sponsored by three American Legion groups—the Business and Professional Men's, the Voiture, and Theodore Peterson Posts; three Junior boys are selected on the basis of scholarship and leadership to participate in a project similar to Girls' State, in order that they may gain a higher appreciation of and wholehearted allegiance to the democratic way of life.
