INTRODUCTION

We are the leaders of tomorrow seeking guidance, friendship, knowledge and leadership. We take pride in our endeavors. We seek to broaden our education for the betterment of each individual personality in preparation for the world awaiting

The 1968 Tradewind staff wishes to dedicate this yearbook to the Seeker, who, representing us all, will use his skills to the best of his ability in contributing to a world of peace. SENIORS SENIORS SENIORS SENIORS SENIORS

Seniors plan their year.

SENIORS SENIORS

You have not done enough, you have never done enough, so long as it is still possible that you have something of value to contribute.

Dag Hammarskjöld

"...but how will I shake Mr. Jensen's hand?"

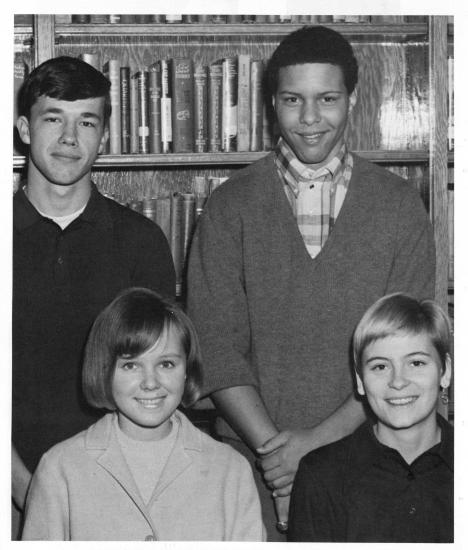

"I'm going home to mother!"

Girls mob senior Phil Sibinski for his "kingly" autograph.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Secretary, Carol Carlson President, Phil Sibinski

Vice-President, Cathy McQuiston Treasurer, John Turrentine

Bottom Row: Carol Carlson, Phil Sibinski, Cathy McQuiston, John Turrentine, Mrs. Lemke. Row Two: Harry Broadfoot, Jeanette Erickson, Judy Murschel, Carlynne Harvet, Helena Thompson. Row Three:

Joanne Kaczmarczyk, Diane Moy, Joe Aykens, Sonja Johnson, Barry Braun. Absent: Barb Jones, Marilyn Ernst.

SENIOR COUNCIL

The composition of Vocational's Senior Council is similar to our Federal governing body. Democratically organized, it consists of three major parts: executive, congress, and constituents.

In all governing bodies, specified duties pertain to certain individuals. Inquiring seniors present their ideas to the representatives. These ideas and opinions are discussed among the governing members. Effectiveness involves cooperation from everyone concerned: officers, representatives, and seniors. Evidence of such cooperation can be seen in Senior activities such as Sno Day, Senior Banquet, and the Prom. Assistance from advising consultant, Mrs. Sarah Lemke, adds conformity to Vocational's 1968 Senior plans.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Lemke, Adviser

Carol Carlson presents roses to Mrs. Lemke.

There is one evening in the year when caloric counting seniors forget their rigid diets. The scene is the Senior Banquet at the Holiday Inn, one of the most important social events of the year for Vocational's Senior Class. Here, promises of a delightful evening topped off with gourmet food and exquisite entertainment were fulfilled. To end a perfect evening, Harry Strobel and His Orchestra played our theme, "Stardust."

Sno-Day is a much anticipated Senior activity. As always, the Sno-Day festivities were held at the Columbia Chalet. The day began with bumps and bruises received by the bolder students who took to the hills with cardboard sleds; while the less adventurous spent the afternoon in the warmth and comfort of the chalet. Activities continued with the crowning of the Sno-Day Royalty, Cheryl Baron and Ron Wicklund. Dancing to the music of the "Soul Package" topped off a perfect day.

HONOR SOCIETY

Vocational's chapter of the National Honor Society is composed of 17 Senior members, selected for their qualities of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

National Honor Society members, who are selected by the faculty committee, may not exceed 10 per cent of the Senior class and must obtain above average grades.

Election into this Society is a great honor, for membership is not only for one's high school career, but for life.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the leadership of James Erdahl, Paulette Oney, Diane Matha, and Tim Buechler, the Student Council sponsors such important events as the Homecoming Dance, the Red Cross Drive, and the Christmas Party, and Good Grooming Week.

Each class is represented by eight students, who are voted upon by the class or selected by the class adviser. In this way sophomores, juniors, and seniors work together to provide activities for the entire school

The Student Council has unified the school by contributing long-lasting memories of another school year.

STAGE CREW

Behind every auditorium performance at Vocational there is a group of energetic students who handle such vital tasks as managing the curtains, lights, and sound effects. The Stage Crew, under the direction of Mr. Stanley Frostad, has the responsibility of seeing that each program is carried out as efficiently as possible.

THESPIAN TROUPE

Each year a group of selected students gain admittance into the Thespian Society by earning a minimum of 10 points. These points are earned by either participating in two plays or by working behind the stage for one hundred hours. The drama teacher, Mrs. Cynthia Anderson, selects the members from those who make applications.

12 YEARS OF SERVICE

Vocational's Drama teacher, Mr. Robert Turner, has been an active faculty member and director of 30 major plays and countless auditorium programs during his teaching career. He has served our school with enthusiasm and devotion and has added a professional touch to student performances.

Not only the productions themselves, but the man behind each, the unsung hero, will long be remembered by Vocational's students and faculty as a very wonderful person, an outstanding teacher, and a good friend.

Mr. Robert Turner

"Good Grief, Charlie Brown!"

"Tradewind Days Are Here Again . . . "

DRAMA

Seniors who wish to gain knowledge and acting experience in dramatics, as well as earn English credit, have the opportunity to enroll in Drama.

Under the guidance of Mr. Robert Turner, student members receive background in the history of theater, and from this background they compose their own scripts. Early in the year, Mr. Turner was replaced by Mrs. Cynthia Anderson. Under her direction, the Drama classes entertained the student body through various auditorium programs and plays.

CHEERLEADERS

School spirit reached its peak this year through the lively jumps and enthusiastic yells of our cheerleaders. The girls, captained by Rosalie Thunstrom and Terry Johnson, adopted a school mascot, played by Senior, Debbie Girard. The combined efforts of mascot and cheerleaders added excitement to each game; and their unfaltering support for each team, in victory or defeat, has shown us the real meaning of sportsmanship.

Who are those girls that strain their vocal chords at school sports events, add excitement to our games, and stimulate school spirit? They are, of course, members of Vocational's Pep Club. Under the supervision of Miss Katherine Murphy and Miss Margaret Christenson, this devoted group, filled with good ol'school spirit and energetic pep, boosts the morale of our teams. To obtain membership, a student must attend five or more games.

The athletes of our school who are awarded letters and bars become members of the Lettermen's Club. These boys must keep themselves in good physical condition and practice diligently for the benefit of their team. In return, our lettermen build character, learn responsibility and become men.

BAND

The students of Vocational High School decided that one year without a band was enough, so they started one by themselves. Directed by Mr. Calvin Linn, a senior at the University of Minnesota, these ambitious students have been able to provide Vocational High School with musical entertainment during games, auditoriums, and other school functions. Hopefully, this tradition will be continued next year.

RED CROSS

"It's Cool to Care" was the slogan used as Vocational students filled friendship kits with personal and recreational items for 8 to 12 year old children. These kits were distributed through military channels reaching children in Vietnam. Under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Edblom, with assistance from the Needle Arts students, who made the sturdy colorful bags, 200 bags were sent to needy children.

Jean Rosenkranz, Linda Volavka, Rose Stroth, Arthur Ley.

Red Cross slogan builds enthusiasm.

TEN LITTLE INDIANS

As the play opens, eight invited guests discover that not only are they the captives of an unknown host, but each of them is doomed to die for a murder he is said to have committed. According to ten Indian rhymes above the mantlepiece, each guest meets with a predetermined fate until the true murderer is exposed.

Superb acting was displayed by the energetic cast of Ten Little Indians. The set design, unusually realistic, enticed the public's attention and added to an intriguing performance.

THE MIKADO

Lotus blossoms and Mount Fujiyama create the mood and the setting for The Mikado.

Nanki-Poo, son of the Mikado, flees from marriage with Katisha and falls deeply in love with Yum-Yum. However, happiness is shattered for the young lovers, for Yum-Yum is engaged to her guardian, Ko-Ko. Nanki-Poo makes an agreement with Ko-Ko to be beheaded in order to have Yum-Yum as his wife for one month. Trouble arises when the Mikado discovers that his son has been executed and orders all involved with the execution to be killed.

With lively costumes and wonderful melodies, Vocational students, under the direction of Mrs. Cynthia Anderson, did a splendid job of providing a realistic setting for this Oriental operetta.

Under the supervision of Mr. Melvin Sorenson, the Chess Club meets every Tuesday night to practice. Throughout the year they compete with other schools in an attempt to win the city championship. The captain of the Chess Club is Henry Ottinger and the co-captain is Gary Ballanger.

Mrs. Sally Lemke Adviser

Every Monday night a group of enthusiastic girls meet for G.A.A. (Girls Athletic Association). Under the supervision of Mrs. Sally Lemke, the girls participate in many team sports such as basketball, soccer, voileyball, and badminton. Each girl strives to acquire the 600 points needed to merit a letter.

TRADEWIND AGENTS

"Come on, what's your real name?"

Barb and Dennis tackle the job with honesty.

Behind any yearbook, there are those who have the tedious job of collecting the money. These students must be honest, responsible, and enthusiastic. Mr. Ambrose Zeller and two post high students from his accounting class, Barbara Roehl and Dennis Roach, supervised the Tradewind agents. The task of bringing the Tradewind to the student body could not have been accomplished without the help of this hard-working group.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America, open to students studying marketing subjects, is newly formed at Vocational. These students, through active participation, gain a better understanding of the business world, an awareness of civic obligations, and development of leadership qualities. The 30 members this year from Vocational represent the Retail Sales, Needle Arts, and Tailoring departments. Vocational D. E. C. A. attended a Delegate Assembly at the Holiday Inn to elect state officers and participated in various conferences and contests during the year.

HOMECOMING

Pom poms replace textbooks.

Despite the superstition connected with Friday the 13th, excitement filled Vocational on homecoming day. Pom poms went on sale, beanies and buttons were displayed, cars were being decorated, and candidates for King and Queen campaigned as enthusiasm grew with each passing hour.

By 1:30 p.m., school spirit had reached its peak. An excited student body poured into the auditorium awaiting the grand march which officially begins homecoming festivities. Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Turner, introduced last year's King and Queen, Jeff Bruestle and Charlene Novack. The long-awaited moment arrived as 1967 homecoming King and Queen, Phil Sibinski and Jeanette Erickson, were crowned.

Entertaining the homecoming royalty was a group from the University of Minnesota known as the "Music Projection." This was the group's first official appearance, and Vocationalites gave them a warm welcome.

At 2:30 p.m., students scrambled to decorated cars in order to join the royalty in the ride to Parade Stadium for an afternoon of exciting football and an evening of dancing.

FOOTBALL

Voe's success this year in football was hampered by many factors. The odds against winning grew as the talents of various seniors were lost through injuries. Coach Gerry Cady feels that the many new team members lacked experience needed to show their full potential.

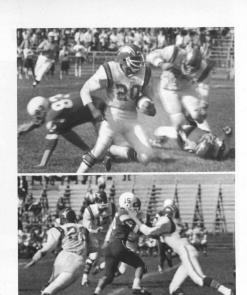

Coach Cady stated, "Without the injuries (to halfback Rudy Brown and end Jim Wibbens) I think we'd have been 3-4 instead of 1-8. But it's not the kind of year that could make you feel bad about losing. Last year (6-2) we had no injuries to speak of."

The entire team deserves the admiration and support of the student body. Through hard work and practice they experienced a satisfaction that can only come from teamwork and good sportsmanship. The seniors who will be leaving Vocational this year deserve special recognition, for they have instilled in each participating student a sense of true school spirit and enthusiasm.

Vocationalites look forward to seeing a younger but more experienced Varsity team.

Coaches Voss and Thompson discuss game strategy with Mike Jones.

Taking off with the ball is Dennis O'Shea.

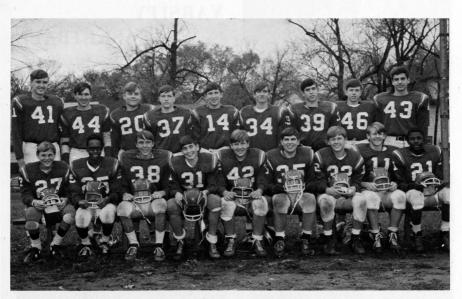

At the Fall Sports Awards Program, Mr. Cady, ace Varsity football coach, took time to thank the many people involved with our sports program. Thanking first the sophomore football coaches, John Voss and Richard Thompson, he said, "These coaches start out by teaching our beginning football players how to put on their uniforms. In a few short weeks these novices must be taught enough to play a game. A football coach must be a teacher, a mother, a trainer, a laborer, a psychiatrist, and a chaplain." Perhaps the boys know best of all.

Coach Voss reported that this year's squad learned quickly and the members of the Sophomore squad should be of considerable help to next year's Varsity team.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Basketball is not just a game; it is a challenge. To a boy on the team it is an opportunity to test his individual capabilities, a chance to gain recognition not only for himself, but for his school by becoming a fine athlete.

Acquiring an impressive win-loss record is the dream of every player at the beginning of the season. Win or lose, the knowledge he has gained as a result of his participation may not be realized until the season's end.

Sophomore athletes have all the potential required to make skilled basketball players. Under the guidance of Coach Thompson these boys, as a team, learn sportsmanship and gain experience playing other high school teams in the city. The patterns established by the members during their first year can either make or break a future varsity team.

Despite several unfortunate losses, Voc's hardworking tankers kept fighting to the end. Seniors Greg Peterson, Steve Dischinger, Gary Frechette, Doug Forsberg, Ray Vrioni, and Barry Braun provided the team with experience throughout the season. Their fine team effort and sportsmanship proved to be valuable assets. With many returning veterans, next year's team promises to be more successful.

Captains Jeff Cole, Alan Prehall, and Coach Jim Salwasser.

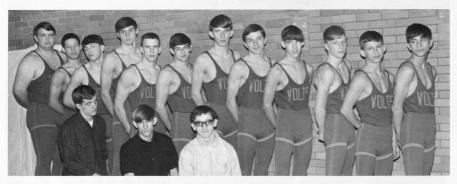

As another hockey season draws to a close, we congratulate the Voc pucksters on their fine team performance and spirit. It is easy to win but it takes perseverance to come back and keep working. Greatly contributing to the team were seniors Jeff Cole, Alan Prehall, Tom Torkelson, Pat Baron, and Mike Doyle.

With the help of many returning juniors, the hockey team looks forward to a promising season in 1969.

Front Row: Bruce Carlson, Jerry Novack, Richard Ceeko, Jeff Cole, Pat Baron, William Boeser. Coaches Cady and Klick are as determined to win as their grapplers.

It takes a lot more than strength or fortitude to become a successful wrestler, and our wrestlers seem to possess these qualities. Year after year, wrestling has proven to be one of Voc's best sports.

On the mat, our grapplers have displayed their clear thinking, durability, and determination to win. Many of our boys have gone on to win city and state honors.

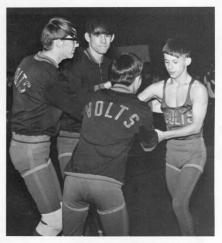

This year's team was a young squad composed of Herculean juniors and quite a few promising sophomores. The two returning seniors, Ted Fasbender and Steve Sydloski, captain, have led the team through a successful season. Coach Cady promises us a great season next year.

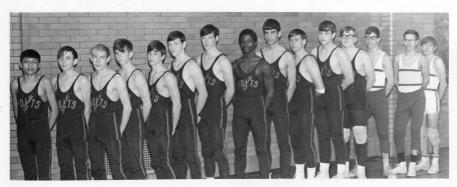

Greg Perez makes ready his "prey."

When the bats bang and the baseballs fly, it's a sure sign that spring is approaching; and the team is preparing itself for another rough and ready season. Together with the fine supervision of Coaches Janasz and Voss and the new-found energies a boy seems to possess this time of year, there can be no doubt in the minds of Vocational students that the baseball team is making more progress than ever before.

This year our three team captains are Tom Jara, Richard Johnson, and Phil Sibinski.

TRACK

Track involves more than being able to run a given distance at a rapid pace. A participant must also be skilled in the art of hurdle jumping, shot put, pole vaulting, or whatever his specialty may be. Coordination of body and mind is essential in these activities to achieve the ultimate goal—success.

That is just what our team has strived so hard for this season.

DAY SCHOOL STAFF

A multitude of tasks is brought to the attention of our efficient day school staff. This group is responsible for keeping track of students and teachers, recording attendance, answering busy telephones, balancing books, etc. The stack of papers, large file cabinets, and noisy typewriters exhibit the activity that takes place in an average day.

Whether in the form of a detailed report, a kind word, or a friendly smile, the day school staff contributes an important part to the life of Vocational.

NIGHT SCHOOL STAFF

Probably unnoticed by most Vocational students is the lively night life our school leads. Every evening our school opens its doors to almost 5,000 people who are unable to attend school during the day. This gives Vocational the distinction of being the only educational program of its kind in our city.

To include individual interests, the broad curriculum changes and grows, offering courses from "How to Buy a Home," to "Advanced Computer Programming."

Anyone over sixteen is eligible to attend. A certificate of attendance is presented upon completion of the course.

CONCLUSION

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who, at the best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.
